Chutkharo Tour. Crossing Lechkhumi Range

Route Description

Tour web-page

Note: the sides/banks and tributaries of rivers (whether left or right) are determined by common rule: by looking towards the direction of the river stream (ignoring our moving direction).

The route begins in Mele village of Kvemo Svaneti [Lower Svaneti] (Lentekhi Municipality). We pass the villages of Margvishi and crossing Ghobshura River (the left tributary of Tskhenistskhali River), reach the small village of Ghobi. From here, an ascent begins in the forest. This is the valley of right tributary of Ghobshura. The path is well preserved and easily identifiable. After several kilometers, the forest gets less dense. The path is still identifiable.

When the forest nearly ends and alpine fields begin, we turn right, ascend on the ridge and overlook Ghobshura River. We have to hike towards its source. After certain distance, the path becomes less identifiable, but it is not difficult here to reach Chutkharo Pass without paths as well. We have to hike along Ghobshura's main (right) stream, not along the left one.

Soon we will see the pass. We have to ascend on it directly and descend on the opposite side — to Racha. We can set a camp here, nearly at the foot of rocky massif of Chutkharo.

From here we go right, descending on alpine fields and after certain distance we reach a forest road. The long road leads us down, along the valley of Ritseula River and finally, passing Ritseula HPP, we reach Sadmeli village, the last point of our tour.
